Risk Management Software

How are you currently making decisions that impact your business objectives, brand and potential growth? During tough economic times the ability to generate actionable intelligence that helps predict and prepare against risks is paramount.

The last few years have seen the negative impact unexpected risks can have on a business' brand and bottom lines becoming global news. With this increased publicity around large scale incidents, companies are questioning what they have in place to identify, mitigate and monitor their risk environment.

In many cases there is a realisation that disparate spreadsheets, databases and point solutions have created confusion and providing clarity is becoming an increasing priority within boardrooms to gain competitive advantage and ensure sustainable growth.

However, this identification and mitigation of risks to prevent unexpected incidents negatively impacting the bottom line is only one side of the risk coin. By identifying and managing Key Risk Indicators (KRIs) that link into business objectives companies can also reassure stakeholders and customers, promote a risk aware culture and help contribute to better decision making, all of which can have a positive impact on the bottom line.

So, how can Sword Achiever help?

With Sword Achiever's flagship product, AchieverPlus, you can gain these advantages by increasing transparency and control, creating a standardised risk management approach and defining clear accountable processes.

Executive dashboard with drill down reports and heat maps enable you to see your company's risks, ranked by severity and likelihood, with electronic workflow processes speeding up their ability to produce new or revised assessments, and eliminating the need for a paper chase for editing and approvals.

Delivering compliance:

By managing Governance, Risk and Compliance (GRC) requirements more effectively our clients are able to:

- Reduce and eliminate compliance penalties
- Maintain compliance with Regulatory bodies
- Reduce the severity and costs of risks
- Increase revenue

Key Benefits Include:

- Formal electronic approval of company objectives
- Tracking of measurements and activities
- Clear communication and signoff of objectives
- Ease of accountability and tracking
- Easy access to related information within the management system

“Achiever provides the framework and flexibility to provide the foundation for an enterprise risk management system that is also scalable to your needs.”

Bill Mennenoh, Global Risk Management Director at Mölnlycke Healthcare

Benefits include:

- Increased visibility and control over enterprise risks, protecting the company in the future
- Improved business performance by creating relationships between Key Risk Indicators and business objectives
- The removal of silos and creation of a single point of truth for operational risks across the business
- More efficient processes , saving time and costs and ensuring relevant and reliable information on which to make decisions
- Increased business intelligence through heat maps and reports

Integration With Other Modules

- Incident Reporting: Individual incidents can be associated with completed risk assessments, quickly identifying the more dangerous or most at risk business processes
- Equipment Management: Asset records can be linked to risk assessments, recording which assessment applies to the equipment concerned
- Training and Skills: Association of risk assessments with job descriptions ensures that relevant documents are identified for new employees automatically
